

My Leadership Credo

Leadership Characteristics

- Have a big heart – look at situations from a wider perspective. Generally, I do not work well with people who are narrow minded and negative. A good leader must also be willing to listen and be able to accept constructive feedback and criticism.
- Charismatic – to be able to empower people and get them to work towards common goals; giving due recognition and credit to others when it's due.
- Effective communication – being able to share their thoughts and convey ideas effectively so people understands clearly what they need to do.
- Responsible – willing to take ownership and responsibility even if things don't work out well.
- Quick thinking – able to adapt and think of good solutions in critical times. Ability to stay calm and focused is important too.

Leadership Principles

- Influence by setting good examples – if I want to bring the people closer together, I have to create the opportunities for more interactions.
- Effective Communication – have to improve my communications with EVERYONE. Jakarta is an area I need to improve in.
- Continuous learning – I need to equip myself with more in depth HR knowledge and best industry practices so I can share them with my Team.
- Flexibility – to be more creative in problem solving / critical thinking so long the values or interest of the Company is not compromised.
