

Crime Analyst job search

As a Crime analyst I will identify patterns to gather helpful data that can be used to help police and other government agencies to better their assignments. In addition the job consists of helping detectives and investigators solve crimes by looking at police reports, data, and trends. Crime analysts use a wide range of resources that include crime mapping technology, searching through computer-aided dispatch, reading police reports, and contacting other professionals wherever they may be located.

Degree requirements - Bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice or Statistics.

Experience suggested - law enforcement, crime analyst certification, and knowledge of data gathering, verification, and analysis.

My plan is to obtain a Crime Analyst certification then begin applying for jobs in related areas to gain experience. Once a year of related experience is gained, I will begin applying for Crime Analyst jobs in Columbia, Sc and Atlanta, Ga. I plan to start this job within two years after completing my degree in Criminal Justice.
