Personal Ethics Statement

Overview: as I aspire to be in law enforcement, I have prioritized making a way to get out of my parent's home to provide eventually for myself. To provide for myself I have the idea set to work for my own while learning to obtain assets of my own. To obtain much of anything I must stay in school and remain focused on the mission at hand to eventually become a successful Parole Hearing Officer.

Confidentiality: to become a member of the government, there has to be a level of trust that occurs with you as an employee. Confidentiality is extremely important when working for the government due to you possessing the vital statistics of individuals. Disclosure of vital statistics is an exact way to breach the code of conduct and ultimately face a level of indictment. With confidentiality being extremely serious, I have adapted the professionalism that must happen when working for particular parties.

Dedication : the quality and the commitment demonstrated will ultimately conclude where you are or who you want to be. Dedication must show while any suspicion or skepticism is completely unassociated with your character as you continue to pave and accomplish your original mission.

Remaining Humble: Humility itself will take you further than many other qualities. Humility is the ability to acknowledge when you should be reserved or humbled. Showing humility gives others to learn from you, but really allows you to be a student and soak in knowledge.
