

Taniyah Hendrickson

9/12/2020

The light in a piece of work is showing what the artist is really bringing attention to so you can see the most. The color is also showing how the piece could be sad, happy or focus on certain parts of the piece. The color and light can help the artist show certain movements in the piece.