

Crystal Tysinger

In FAMU's version of in storm and sunshine their dynamics could have been utilized better. Every part sounded as if they played at the same level throughout the whole song. The other ensemble however did an excellent job with their dynamics you could hear every crescendo and decrescendo throughout the entire song. The tempo was kept up very well and you could hear every change in tempo.