

Introducing Myself

Good morning class my name is Stephany Morgan Heath born and raised here in Atlanta, Georgia. I married at the age of 24 and it only lasted about a year and a half. There were no children born. I tried to make life work for me alone but after so long, then you will look in other areas. I left the city in 1999 to try to find a new life. I returned home 2008 on Thanksgiving morning. I fell in the trap where many were losing jobs and homes. I was placed with family till that was not enough for me. I starting writing for some reason not wanting to forget the experiences I had in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Jacksonville, Florida. I did finally complete the writing. Well I had two months alone for sure needing a home. Any little money I would receive from people who felt sorry for me I would take it to my church hoping God would accept it and bless me with a home. One day a man had been watching me and said he would help. He made a telephone call to a friend and said help her. She let me stay in her home a couple of months and then my church was fasting, and I asked the Lord, "What would He have me to do"/ When I received His answer I promised Him I would do it. The answer was school. Now I attend Beulah Heights University of Atlanta, Georgia I have choosen to work at Dekalb County Police Station or with Professor Tyrel Shields. I would like to prepare myself for my home Church ministry.