

The research for my theological topic I plan to write my paper on will be the contrast between theology seen as absolute truth and theology understood as testimony condition by time and place. This subject has always been very interesting to me for I have seen how both views can be valid. It will be interesting to dig into these differences of theology.