

Who Switched Off my Brain

Stephanie L Fortson

Beulah Height University – Leadership

Summarizing

Who switched off my Brain appeared for me to be a way of thinking, and we use our brain daily to turn things on or off. The more I listen to Dr. Leaf speak on this topic, I realized that we all have a different way of thinking. The video had some great illustrations that have caused me to even think even more about my own actions. Many times, we say “the devil made me do it”, but really, we have a choice to do it or not. I really loved how she showed the different sizes of a man and woman's brain. Of course, as a woman I can relate the many times because we have some many areas of life that we are dealing with are brains would have to be conditions to be bigger. This may sound kind of funny but, I always tell my husband and brothers that being a woman we have or choice to deal with more issues in life than men.

In my conclusion of this video it gave so many great illustrations that makes me as a person think about situations before reacting. What I realize is that we must allow God to guide us and because the Holy Spirit does live in us we have to listen to the voice of God.