

My current understanding of the role, of the Holy Spirit, is for teaching and guiding believers in all truth. I believed everything, we as believers do should be guided by the Holy Spirit. The apostle Paul was one who was truly inspired by the Holy Spirit, doing magnificent work for the Lord.

I believe the word of God is infallible, making no mistakes. The Holy Spirit will give us the revelation knowledge we need concerning scriptures, to teach proclaiming what thus said the Lord. The Holy Spirit would also help us to, set examples concerning things that are right and pleasing in the sight of God.

2Timothy3:16, concerning for correction and for instruction and righteousness, correction refers to restoration for an upright state. For we should use the Bible as our sole guide for instruction and righteousness.
