PAPAL TAXATION PROPOSAL

Relating to the pope or either the Roman Catholic Church where the church men and their constituents had to pay the pope's expenses when he was in their area. The purpose of this proposal is to show this papal taxation was once a heavy burden for the people of Europe who were faithful to their rulers but resented the drain of wealth. Details of papal taxation: The people's income came from their estates/Tithes that they paid to a church official to pay the pope. The English hated to pay money that they thought would go to England's enemy (France) due to the pope's residence in the area.
