

Debra Rucker

Successful Life in Ministry

9/12/18

My Values and Non Negotiables

There are many things in life that I value and I want take no for an answer. I value my family although we have our ups and downs, but we seems to come back together when we realize that it did not make no sense. I always try to keep peace in my family and I thank God for that. I am always reminded by the word of God to keep peace. The word tells me blessed are the peace makers for they shall be called the children of God. We are peace makers and not peace breakers. I value my Job. I need It need in order to pay my bills and to be able to have the things that my heart desires. It gets touch sometimes even on the job. The enemy has a way of trying to get me to lose your job. He will put some unsaved person in your path to keep mess going or to have the Supervisor to talk crazy to you, so you can go off or say some choices words that you know that you will regret and you can't take them back and once the enemy gets you to fall for his tricks, then he got you.

I value my health, but I know I don't do all that I am supposed to do but I try hard. I sometimes eat things like sweets that I know don't always agree with my body, but I do try to get a handle on healthy eating habits. My health means a lot to me I try to do the things that my doctor tells me to do. I pray about the situation because I want to do what's right in Gods eyes since I ask him for his guidance, I am so glad he knows me and He knows that I don't do right all the time but I try.

I value my Education. It means a lot to me and believe once you master your education no one can take that away from you. I have my certificate in theology, I have my Associate Degree in Entrepreneurship and I am trying my best to get my Leadership Bachelor Degree. My Education means a lot because in this world that we are living in you have to have some type of Education and especially to get a good job.

I value my Spirituality, and my Church. You have to stay in the word of God because when you don't it seems like your day just don't be right. Bible study is very important to me and I love Sunday school.