

Principles of Science

Bilhah Kiura

Sc366

19th June 2020

Professor Myra E Bolton

Science and Scripture

Introduction

In the world we are live in, we are surrounded by living things such as animals, plants, birds in the air and all other living creatures on the surface of the earth and the sea. The most amazing fact is that, each specie produces its own kind. In this research paper, I will be writing about God's creation based on the scriptures in Genesis chapter 1:11. I will also discuss how science and scripture agree on animals and plants producing their own.

I have chosen Genesis 1:11 as my research verse which talks of God's creation. In verse 11, He commands the land to produce vegetation; seed bearing plants and trees on the land that bear fruit with seed in it, according their various kinds. In Genesis 1:27, God created man in His own image. The key phrase here is "according to its own kind" and "in His own image". This command is evident in all we see around us. Each specie produce its own just like God intended it to be. Mathew 7:16 states, "By their fruit you will recognize them. Do people pick grapes from thorn bushes or figs from thistles?". This verse implies that there is no way a tree can produce fruits for another tree or plant.

God created all species in a unique way, that they can only reproduce within themselves. God's creation and reproduction of same species is evident in every living creature we see around. This corresponds with the gene theory. Genes are contained in the DNA, which is a genetic code containing all genetic information which is passed on from generation to generation. Since DNA does not change and the information coded remain intact, the off springs inherit all the traits.

Science agrees with the scriptures in the subject of reproduction. God commanded that plants and animals be created according to their own kind. Science on the other hand proves plants and animals can only produce their own through DNA. This proves that scripture is right and science is proving what has been, all along.

Science and Scripture

Reference

Holy Bible, New International Version

Science and Scripture

Teaching Video clips