

Child Cardiac & Hematology

Ticket to Enter

Kawasaki Disease	Sickle Cell Anemia	Penicillin
Rheumatic Fever	Lead Poisoning	ALL
Aspirin	Autosomal Recessive	5-35
Mononucleosis	Sex Linked Recessive	45-69
Red Blood Cells	White Blood Cells	Leukemic Cells

Choose the appropriate term above to answer the following questions:

1. This inflammatory disease can happen after a group A beta hemolytic streptococcus infection that was inadequately treated. Rheumatic Fever
2. People with a kind of hemoglobin called hemoglobin S suffer from what disease? Sickle Cell Anemia
3. A blood lead level of 45-69 requires consideration of initiation of chelation therapy.
4. Sickle Cell Anemia is a Red Blood Cell disorder.
5. This is referred to as the “kissing disease” and is caused by the Epstein Barr Virus: Mononucleosis
6. A kindergarten student that has cognitive and behavioral problems such as developmental delays, lowered IQ, reading deficiency, aggression, hyperactivity, and impulsivity should be screened for Lead Poisoning.

7. Leukemia is the most common form of childhood cancer and occurs when there is an unrestricted proliferation of immature Leukemic WBC in the blood forming tissues of the body.
8. Penicillin is the drug of choice for treating Rheumatic Fever.