Explain the rationale and/or benefits of this activity in respect to the community:

Donating blood during a blood shortage allows for the chance to save someone's life in our community. Blood levels are critical in hospital right now which could result in less elective surgeries due to the blood shortage, or not being able to treat the patients that are need of blood transfusion in the hospital because we don't have the correct blood to match theirs due to the critical low levels of blood. Without blood donations, lives can't be saved, and treatment can't be done such as a blood transfusion for a GI bleed, or cancer patients that need blood, trauma that need blood ready to go in the OR for life saving surgery
