

Nursing Professional Self-Pledge

I, Ryan Clagett, recognize that as a nurse, I have a professional commitment to myself. I will honor this commitment by: (give a minimum of two actions you will take to fulfill a professional commitment to yourself such as actions you might take to demonstrate a commitment to life-long learning, self-care or developing resilience)

- 1) Completing my continuing education credits early and regularly before license renewal.
- 2) Utilizing self-care in my practice to continue to provide client-centered care and prevent compassion fatigue.

I recognize that I also have a professional commitment to the profession of nursing. I will honor this commitment by: (give a minimum of two actions you will take to fulfill a professional commitment to nursing such as actions you might take to advance the science of nursing, care for vulnerable populations or advocacy)

- 1) Always taking the time to advocate for my clients regarding the care they deserve.
- 2) Pursuing my BSN shortly after graduation and continuing toward a DNP to advance the science of nursing.

I accept that I am responsible for presenting a positive and professional image of nursing. Ways that I will honor this commitment will include: (give a minimum of two actions you will take to present a positive and professional image of nursing such as conduct, language, or appearance)

- 1) Making sure that my uniform is wrinkle-free, clean, and presentable at all times.
- 2) Maintaining appropriate conduct and composure even on bad days.

The profession of nursing is one that requires adherence to an established code of ethics. I will uphold these ideals to ensure the care I provide those I care for receive the highest quality of care I can give. As a student of nursing, I believe this commitment begins now. Therefore, I pledge to uphold these commitments to professionalism to the best of my abilities from this point in my nursing education and continuing throughout my career as a nurse.
