Developing Strengths

Organizer

Being an organizer is extremely important when working in any project because it is a way to keep track of all of your work. I would do this by creating a system, so I do not lose anything.

Relating

Relating to others is important in a project because it gives me an opportunity to reach out to other people for help and I can bounce ideas off of others.

Future thinking

Future thinking is a key component to keeping a positive mindset, which will make my work less stressful because I will see an end goal.

Project management

- In a project, it is important to utilize all of your strengths to the best of your ability to be able to improve

Being aware of how to stay organized is one of the biggest talents someone could have in completing a project. It shows good management skills not only in your research, but it also outlines time management and making a good schedule.

Ways to Stay Organized:

- ✓ Write everything down
- ✓ Keep a schedule
- ✓ Do not procrastinate
- ✓ Make sure to declutter your folders, binders, etc.
- ✓ Give everything a place that it will always belong
- ✓ Keep only what is important and what you need

project management

- Being able to relate to other people is more important than it may seem during the course of a project. It is important because it gives you the opportunity to talk to others and not be shy to ask for help or experience. You will be able to bounce your ideas off others and compare your projects to see if you are moving on the right track.

Ways to be Relating:

- Listen to other people
- Feel comfortable asking for help
- Don't just seek help, but provide others with help too
- Be open to advice

Future thinking in a project is important because it determines the way you're going to view your progress throughout. Creating goals and a positive mindset will help you see the project through to the end and give you a better work ethic.

How to be a Future Thinker:

- Keep an open mind
- Create end goals
- Stay positive

Future Planning

Organizing

- Before starting my project, I think it would be best to plan for the way I'm going to keep everything organized. It would be best to create a system for all of my work so I know that in the end I will be able to access everything easily.

Relating

Before I start my project, I want to make sure that I communicate with my class and my teacher to make sure I actually am on the right track. I want to be able to talk everyone through the project and hope other people help me too

Future Planning

Future Thinking

- It is ALWAYS important to create goals. I want to be able to make plenty of end goals, so I have something to keep my eye on and I don't get lost or distracted in something else. I want to start with a positive mindset and keep an open mind all the way through.
