

I knew I wanted to pursue nursing ever since I was younger, but I didn't know exactly how much I wanted to until I came across a few life experiences that motivated me to continue with my goal. I have always felt the desire to make a difference in people's lives and nursing was a career I became very passionate about. I visited many children's hospitals throughout my life due to family situations and fell in love with the healthcare field. Being employed at a hospital has also pushed me to further my education and brought me closer to achieving my goals of becoming a nurse. Like many people say, I feel it is my calling.