Type of action taken against the license: Warning with stipulations

Nurse Gray performed a skilled nursing visit for a patient that had multiple sites of skin breakdown. However, in her documentation, she noted that there were no abnormalities and the skin integrity was found to be within normal limits. This was negligent considering this patient's care is strongly reliant on the care giver's documentation.

The defendant needs to take her time and make sure to thoroughly assess each patient to determine the most appropriate course of action. This is imperative seeing as how even the smallest issues can grow to be much bigger problems. This is a completely avoidable mistake that shouldn't be an issue as long as the nurse follows protocol.

As a follow up nurse, I would absolutely report the inconsistencies with the documentation. It is imperative that, as nurses, we advocate for our patients to ensure they receive the best possible care and outcomes from their time with us.
