

Why Nursing?

Hello;

My name is Juan Anthony Hernandez and to say nursing is easy would definitely be an understatement after the year of 2020. It was this year that pushed me to capitalize on my journey into nursing school but long before this pandemic it has been a dream of mine since I was young. Why you ask? It started well before I could comprehend the tasking profession of nursing. When I was born, I lived quite a long and health challenging life. Open heart surgery at birth was the first step at my take on this life and to date 9 surgeries later and here I am a soon to be nursing student. I thankfully had a mother who most definitely would be a nurse as she cared for me after my long hospital stays to ensure that all the hard work of those pediatric intensive care nurses had accomplished did not go to waste. It's with pride that I also follow after one my oldest sisters who is a nurse and many other family members that I hold to high regards as they save lives every day. In general, this is my give back. This is my thank you for every medication that I received, every wound care treatment that was given, every meal and every sign of God's unforgettable sign of love. That love that I consider as nursing! This is my give back!
