

I have always had passion for nursing, helping others, being needed, and wanting to know more about nursing to help. I feel good inside when I have patients in my care improve as I am caring for them. There is always opportunity for growth and becoming.