

Lois Ann Sitoy

September 20, 2021

Why Nursing?

Working in a health care setting heightened my interest in the medical field; specifically nursing. Observing professional nurses in line of patients' care is inspirational, especially the good progression in a patient's health. Personally, I have always been passionate for accommodating and assisting people. This profession also offers a great network of specialty from babies to adults, which ever sparked my interest after schooling.