

The last five days of my clinical experience has been great. I cannot thank Kristin enough for making this experience smooth for me. I was anxious to begin my preceptors, and she has been the best in guiding me each day while at the hospital. I wanted to talk about a patient that I was able to care for while being there. This patient had gotten covid back at the beginning of October and was experiencing low platelets counts. They could not figure out what was causing this, and the patient had several bruises all over his body. The mom was worried the entire time being there and asked several times why this was happening. Covid has caused several problems and not being able to know the answers is frustrating. We ran some more labs and his platelet count had gone up just a little. Kristin was able to provide patient education to the family, and I was able to discharge the patient the next day. Being on the pediatric floor has been a great experience for me and I was able to learn a lot while being there. I couldn't have asked for a better preceptor.
