Why Nursing?

I believe health and service are very important so when choosing a career path, I was sure the medical field is the place I want to be. I believe all roles in the healthcare team are important to patient care but I chose to pursue nursing because they have a much closer level of communication with each patient. Being mainly introverted myself, I believe that taking the responsibilities of a nurse can push me outside my comfort zone and help me grow as a person as I am able to help others with their needs.
