

Why Nursing?

It has always been fascinating to me that the profession of nursing is so versatile and always evolving. With every improvement in science comes a change in the way healthcare workers are called to do their jobs, making it an ever-changing field that rarely has a mundane day. Having a career that will remain interesting and allow for growth in both my character and occupation has always made me excited to get involved in this field.