

I think what made me want to be a nurse was simply what the word itself embodies. When you think of a nurse, you think selfless, caring, ambitious. A nurse knows how to handle each situation they come in contact with, and if they don't, they figure it out quickly. They are always on their toes ready for the next task. I also watched my mother succeed at being the best nurse in our hometown, always on billboards, people coming up to me to tell me how much my mother helped them. I want to be as strong and courageous as my mother. Nothing stops her from wanting to help others with their best intentions in mind. I like being on my toes and having different challenging tasks each day, I have always been a problem solver and a helpful servant of the ones that need it.
