

The reason I want to be a nurse is because I want to learn how to take care of people and communicate with them to help them feel comfortable in a time when they may be most uncomfortable . I love helping those in need and being there for anyone, and I feel that, in today's world, there are many people who go into nursing with the wrong intentions and treat patients terribly. I want to care for patients and make them happy in any way possible because I know that we all go through life and having a caretaker who listens and is there means more than we think. My goal is to also use nursing as a way to help me reach my next step in my career of becoming a doctor or a surgeon and I could use the skills and practices I learned whenever I decide to go back to school.
