

Stephanie Garza
Final reflexion
IM8
October 04, 2022

During my preceptorship on S8, I was able to learn more about how to organize my nursing duties such as establishing a schedule of when to start my assessments and how soon after I need to do my charting of the assessments and creating/documenting my care plans and the other standard protocols such as charting of education and how the care plan is being met or ongoing and progressing. I have learned how important it is to get these things done as early as possible in my day in order to stay on track and not get behind as this will definitely be a domino effect leading to less time with my patients for emotional support as well as completing all my tasks in a timely manner. If I don't get a good head start in the morning I could be facing a long hard day that not only affects me but my patients will suffer with late medications that are crucial and the care team will be effected by my lacking as well such as orders needed to be done and sent to lab or other departments for the Doctor to make decisions and get to the time sensitive matters that could make life changing differences.