

Why Nursing

The reason I want to pursue nursing is to make a difference daily. I had the privilege of being a Police Officer and I was able to serve my community, however I feel Nursing can be more rewarding. I consider myself to be very compassionate and giving. I believe nursing is the right fit for me because I have a big heart and want to make an impact on my future patients and future patient's families. I love that there are many opporutunies in the Nursing field, such as different specialties and room to grow. I am so excited for this journey to begin and look forward to learning from the best.
