When asked to undergo a drug test, she refused to do so. Her behavior could have altered her clinical judgment concerning her patients condition.

Charge 2- Student Loan charge

Regarding the first charge, safety and security was violated. Her impaired behavior could have possibly put her patient in danger by not recognizing any changes to her patient.

A prudent nurse would report any abnormal behavior, such as the respondents impairment to the charge nurse. If I were to find a patient harmed, I would call for help if needed and assess any unusual findings and report them as well.
