Charge 1- Tampering Drug Test

Respondent attempted to submit a urine specimen for a drug test by using urine that she brought in with her. This conduct was likely to deceive the laboratory and could have affected the company's decision to continue her employment.

Regarding this charge, promoting trust was violated. The respondent's employer relied on this nurse to be honest and capable of keeping her patients safe. This action that was taken shows how far the nurse would go to mislead the test result.

A prudent nurse, if discovering this activity, would report this misconduct to the facility she was currently working at in order for this behavior to be handled appropriately. Thankfully no patients were harmed.
