

Angelique Fuambu

IM4

HIV question with answer

Question: A nurse in an outpatient clinic is assessing a client who reports night sweats and fatigue. The client reports having cough along with nausea and diarrhea. Their temperature is 38.1 oc(100.6F) orally . The client is concerned about the possibility of having HIV. Which of the following actions should the nurse take? Select all that apply

- A. Perform a physical assessment
- B. Determine when manifestations began
- C. Teach the client about HIV transmission
- D. Draw blood for HIV testing
- E. Obtain a sexual history

Ans: A,B,E (Gathering more data ,performing a physical assessment and obtaining the client sexual history are priorities at this time)

C is not correct because teaching is not an appropriate action at this time.

D, is not appropriate at this time

Gather