- Nurse knowingly submitted a negative TB test result to her employer

- Nurse should have had a TB test done with a trusted provider, one who is trained to read results. She should have followed proper procedure when attaining and reporting results.

- Safety was violated when she put the patient in danger by falsely reporting a test and promoting distrust. Documentation and Professional Role was violated when she documented incorrectly and did not interact with the Dr. like she's should have.

- I would have reported my finding immediately to my supervisor and the attending physician
