Additional Comments: overall we worked well as a group. I will say that Vanette could use some work on professionalism. She was belittling and insinuating that I was not competent enough to cut or glue anything. Vanette shot down every idea I had and was telling some class members that it was all my fault we had to start over. I brushed off her cattiness and got the work done despite the way she made me feel and did everything she asked of me just to get the project done. The language she used in text messages was not very professional. I understand a lot of us in class may be friends but there are things you do not do and say in the professional world.
