

I would like to be a nurse because I am compassionate about what I do. I have a big heart and dream of making a difference in the world. My current career has shown me my capabilities as a healthcare professional, but I strive to be more than just that. I want to be light in someone's darkest time by caring for patients the same as I would a loved one.