Remember to keep your skills sheet current and seek out learning opportunities.

What was going on with your patient? What pertinent medication(s) did you administer? Why is the patient receiving the medications? What important things do nurses need to monitor? How do you know the medication(s) are helping the patient? What did you learn during this rotation? What were potential safety issues and/or health complication(s) for the patients? How would you address them?

A brief anxiety assessment for all adult patients: Ask your patient if they feel anxious. On a 1 to 10 scale, how anxious are they feeling? What symptoms are they feeling? What usually helps? Include what you did to help relieve their anxiety, e.g., teaching, repositioning, allowing them to talk, etc.

Briefly describe what was going on with your patients. Do not use patient initials, age, sex, or room # (HIPAA violation). You may use "infant, children, adult, geriatric, etc.
