Student's reflection of the day and your take aways:

For Clinicals today, I was in the Oncology and Hematology clinic.
Nursing Skills I observed included medication administration, blood draws, infusions, and teaching. I also had an opportunity to see nurses, nurse aids, doctors, child life, and social workers provide quality, personalized care as they worked together as a clinical team.

I enjoyed getting to play the role of the patient for two little girls and seeing their mother learn how to administer Nplate to their older sister. I also had the privilege of seeing a cancer patient ring the bell as family.

Please email the completed form to Mrs. White at the end of the clinical day.

Friends, and hospital employees cheered for her. Battling cancer and coping with disorders, such as sickle cell, are difficult. However, it was encouraging to see each of these children and their families finding normalcy and celebrating this day in their lives.
