POST-CLINICAL REFLECTION OB Simulation Reflection - due on Thursday by 2359

To strengthen your clinical judgment skills, reflect on your knowledge and the decisions made caring for this patient by answering the reflection questions below.

Reflection Question	Nurse Reflection
What feelings did you experience in clinical? Why?	Going into sim I was nervous, because I always feel like I don't think I am going to do well, especially since other students are in the other room watching. However, once I went, I felt good about my situation.
What did you already know and do well as you provided patient care?	I think I did well with prioritizing my initial concern with the baby which was respiratory distress. I felt confident with my decision to do a respiratory assessment and what to do if the baby was not improving.
What areas do you need to develop/improve?	Being confident in my decisions to do certain things. I also need to get used to verifying the adult in the room. I work with adults so that's not ever something that crosses my mind, but with children that is a very important thing to do.
What did you learn today?	Identify the adult in the room, even if they claim to be the child's parent.
How will you apply what was learned to improve patient care?	I will ALWAYS make sure to verify who every single adult is in relation to the baby, and make sure no one is in the room who is not supposed to be.
Please reflect on how your OB simulation learning experience assisted in meeting 2-3 of the Student Learning Outcomes .	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Communication/ collaboration: with my situation, not only was I in communication with the mom but I also had to be in communication with the physician, security, the charge nurse and NICU- however I need to work on my readback with all of them. 2. Safety/ quality: I defiantly think I need to work on this one, considering my baby was abducted- however It taught me that I need to always verify who is in the room, regardless of if they have a wrist band on or not. Defiantly something I will always remember. 3.
