I want to become a nurse for many reasons, this is a career I would love to retire in, expand and grown in, and meet many friends and overcome a lot of obstacles. While I love to help people and make them feel better, nursing is much more than that to me. I want to become a nurse to understand science and the human bodies that I found ultra interesting. I want to become a nurse where I won't be afraid of medical emergencies and help my family and friends during times where they don't understand and look to me for understanding. I want to be a nurse to support my family and myself independently. I want to be a nurse because this is what God has chosen me to do during my life here on Earth, this is how I will serve him.
