

Peter Nguyen - Ameer Haron - Michael Garces

ROLE PLAYING

Our role playing will be over post-partum hemorrhage.

One person will be the patient and two of us will be nurses.

The patient will have uterine atony upon assessment after giving birth and we will be doing nursing interventions such as giving oxytocin, massaging the fundus, weighing the pads to calculate QBL after vaginal delivery, and checking for s/s of hemorrhagic shock.

The questions we will be asking are:

1. How much BL is considered hemorrhagic for vaginal delivery?
2. Why would we want to massage the fundus?
3. What does oxytocin do for the uterus?
4. Why would we check the lips and nails to see if they're blue or check for confusion?