

Hi, my name is Maria Joy, and there are many reasons why I want to become a nurse. Nursing has been a lifelong dream for me, and I have always felt deep joy and fulfillment in caring for others. I also have a servant's heart, and after my mother's passing, I realized that what I could not do for her while she was living on this earth, I now want to do for others—as a tribute to her and the legacy of love that she lived. Most of all, I truly want God to use me, and I feel that He can best use me in the medical field, providing care, comfort, peace, and a smile to help patients through the most difficult times of their lives. To me, nursing is not just a career; it is a calling to serve and make a meaningful difference in the lives of others, and I want to be the hands and feet of Jesus.
