

I want to be a nurse because making a difference in someone's life during their most difficult moments and caring for them with compassion is something I consider my greatest strength. During my experience as a CNA, I witnessed how meaningful compassionate care can truly be. One moment that deeply impacted me was when I received my first Covenant Hero card while working on the oncology unit, East 7, room 706. The card read, "Ms. Angie, you are an excellent caregiver. Thank you so very much for your care. You are truly God's hands on earth. May God bless you, mija, and strengthen your faith." I still have this card today, as it continues to remind me why I am passionate about pursuing a career in nursing.
