Step 1 Description My 9th shift I took care of a baby that had missing 1st, 2nd, and 3rd finger tips in the NICU.	Step 4 Analysis A broader issue is what happen to the baby in utero for him to have necrosis as soon as he was born.
Step 2 Feelings I felt sad for the baby for having necrosis on their fingers but also confused wondering how that is possible for a baby in utero.	Step 5 Conclusion I learned that there is always different diagnoses when it comes to NICU babies and that they are so fragile.
Step 3 Evaluation What was good about the day is that they went from a bubble CPAP to a HFNC. So the baby was getting better	Step 6 Action Plan It has taught me there will always be questions and new diagnoses coming out.
