Indicator Report

Using this Report to Understand and Improve Your Biblical Financial Health

Amy Nordstrom, the underlying objective of this report is to help you understand how your beliefs and behaviors impact your overall financial health score. The MoneyLife® Indicator is designed to measure how your beliefs and behaviors align with scripture in the following nine areas:

reports look primarily at past performance on debt repayment and current capacity for borrowing.

This is often a poor measure of overall financial health, yet it is considered to be the most important score in our personal finances. Neither a high credit score nor a low score necessarily provides a valid indication that a person's beliefs or behaviors are aligned with God's financial principles.

Most financial training relies heavily on modifying behaviors by following models and practices that have proven successful based on man's economy. This is similar to putting the cart before the proverbial horse. According to the Bible, this approach is backwards. Romans 12:1-2 says that we are transformed by renewing our mind -- that is, by changing our beliefs. Lasting change comes when we first modify what we believe. Once our beliefs are transformed, our behaviors will follow.

The Bible compares people to trees:

SCRIPTURE REFERENCE

“No good tree bears bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit. Each tree is recognized by its own fruit. People do not pick figs from thorn bushes, or grapes from briars. A good man brings good things out of the good stored up in his heart, and an evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in his heart. For the mouth speaks what the heart is full of.” – Luke 6:43-45

Let's look at the example of a tree producing bad fruit.

GETTING THE MOST FROM YOUR REPORT

Amy Nordstrom, there is a wealth of information in this report. Therefore, we recommend you read through it several times. Pay special attention to the action plan section of the report, which is tied to your lowest belief and behavior scores. It also can be very beneficial to have someone, such as a friend or mentor, read through your report with you. If you would like assistance to interpret your results, please contact us to connect with a certified MoneyLife® Indicator Consultant.

ORGANIZATION OF THE REPORT

This report is organized into three main parts:

1. Overall Score - First the report provides an overall score, which is an average score for the nine areas assessed. Your overall score will fall into one of three categories: Red, Yellow, or Green.
2. Individual scores for both Beliefs and Behaviors in all nine areas of financial stewardship - You will receive a score for both beliefs and behaviors in every one of the nine financial stewardship areas. These scores will indicate whether there is an alignment or a discrepancy between beliefs and behaviors in each of the nine areas.
3. Action plan based on your three lowest scores - You will receive a comprehensive action plan for the three lowest scores on both beliefs and behaviors. This action plan includes recommendations to address your areas of weakness and start you on a path to financial health from a Biblical perspective.

From God's perspective, financial health is having your behavior guided by a deep and firm belief that aligns with what the Bible says. Your ultimate goal is to achieve a score as close as possible to 100 on the overall average score, as well as on beliefs and behaviors in every one of the nine stewardship areas.

Your scores will be color-coded based on the numeric value you achieved.

Red: Significant changes to beliefs and/or behaviors are necessary to bring your financial life in line with God's economy. Immediate attention on the underlying issues may help you avoid or minimize negative consequences (financial and/or relational). On a positive note, there are both short- and long-term benefits to bringing your beliefs and behaviors into alignment with God's way of managing money and possessions. MoneyLife® Indicator Consultants are ready to serve you with wise counsel in these critical areas, as you learn to live in God's economy rather than man's economy.

Yellow: You have a certain level of understanding about God's economy, as it relates to behaviors and beliefs in His way of handling finances. However, there may be some level of uncertainty causing you to hesitate on behaviors that align with God's principles. Your beliefs regarding certain areas are influenced by aspects of man's economy and need to come into full alignment with God's economy. Addressing behaviors and/or beliefs in areas with low scores will move your overall score to the next tier. This will move you closer to living in full alignment with God's financial principles. MoneyLife® Indicator Consultants are ready to assist you in taking the steps necessary to live as a faithful manager of His resources.

PRINT (HTTPS://MLI2.CROWN.ORG/SURVEY/PRINT/USEW04B4M4/Z5IP7)

Green: You are moving in the right direction to consistently live in God time, talent, and treasure for His glory. As you continue to grow in your role as a faithful steward, be sure to regularly assess whether your beliefs and behaviors align with God's principles. Apart from His grace, it is easy to succumb to the worldly wisdom that governs man's economy.

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs about true riches align closely with the principles found in God’s Word. By now, you should be experiencing joy as your beliefs on this important topic come to fruition in your own life and your sphere of influence. Family, friends, colleagues and strangers have probably been blessed because of your understanding and practice of these principles (Luke 16:11).

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs regarding giving and generosity are closely aligned with God’s Word. As a result, you should be experiencing the joy that comes from giving freely to God and others. You are convinced that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Your biggest enemy in this season may be complacency or becoming overwhelmed by the amount of need in the world. Remember the exhortation in Galatians 6:9, which reminds us that we should not grow weary in doing good.

Congratulations! Your behavior regarding giving and generosity reflects that of a Kingdom citizen. Both your budget and lifestyle honor God, and you find great joy and satisfaction when giving to His purposes. Your generosity towards others shows that you have experienced it is more blessed to give than to receive. In addition to giving financially, you are willing to use your time, talents, and possessions in ways that glorify the Lord. As you continue to grow in this area, God will impact numerous lives through you.

Saving is the cornerstone of wise stewardship, while excessive consumption and waste are the opposite. In order to save, we have to learn to live on less than we make, no matter how little or how much that is. Save on purpose — to be prepared for an emergency or to be available for an opportunity — but don't hoard. Remember, it's important to be saving, giving, and eliminating debt simultaneously.

You are making progress toward adopting a Biblical perspective of saving, of how important saving is for your financial health, or perhaps you have doubts about your ability to practice this discipline consistently. As you increase your knowledge about savings, you are more likely to become a steady plodder (Proverbs 21:5).

Your behavior regarding saving does not align closely with God's Word. As you gain a Biblical understanding of saving, it is important that you get started -- no matter how little you are currently able to set aside. The discipline of regular and consistent saving needs to be established in your mind and in your budget. This important practice will allow you to prepare for the future, avoid debt, and grow in generosity. We encourage you to seek God's direction about the portion He wants you to set aside from all sources of income.

What was measured?

Our financial plans should include learning to become God’s investment managers. Wherever we find ourselves financially, we are all called to be risk managers on God’s behalf. Investing is a means of multiplying our resources to give more, to meet future family needs, to further the Gospel, and to fund special needs.

Some people want to know if investing is scripturally legitimate. They want to know if money is evil. Money can be used for good or evil. It is the love of money that is the root of all kinds of evil. The Bible never condemns money itself, only the misuse of or the wrong attitude toward it.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your desire to please God by managing your investments well
- Your investment in the lives of others
- Your ability to invest
- Your understanding of your investments
- Your practice of diversification

Where are you?

Your beliefs about investing do not align closely with God’s Word. You may be uncomfortable or insecure regarding investment strategies, perhaps due to a lack of knowledge and/or a negative experience. While it is important to focus initially on goals for giving, saving, and debt elimination, it is also important to grow in your understanding of wise investment principles.

Your behavior in the area of investing does not align closely with God's Word. If you tried to invest in the past and had a bad experience, you may be hesitant or fearful about trying again. Another possibility is that you have financial constraints which prevent you from investing right now. As you work on getting your financial house in order, you should also take appropriate steps to become knowledgeable about God's plan for investing.

Careful planning is essential to overcoming financial challenges. It also enables us to pursue a life filled with meaning and purpose. The essentials for a financial plan are:

- Understanding biblical financial principles
- Creating a spending plan (budget)
- Spending less than you earn
- Having clear financial goals

Everyone needs a plan for their finances and a commitment to stick to it! Applying the financial principles in Scripture is a journey that takes time. It is easy to become discouraged. Remember, simply be faithful with what you have – whether it is little or much.

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs about leaving a legacy align closely with God’s Word. You have experienced the blessing that comes from teaching others about faithful stewardship, and your legacy includes imparting to others the wisdom God has given you. You are eager to share God’s precepts and principles, as well as your own life experiences. This can lead to the transformation of individual lives, families, and the society in which you live. One challenge during this season may be to keep the wisdom you have gained to yourself. Do not become weary in teaching others, even when God’s principles seem contrary to popular wisdom. Remember, the seeds you plant today will yield an eternal harvest.

When it comes to leaving a legacy, your behavior does not align closely with God’s Word. It could be there is no one in your life you feel called to disciple right now, or you do not feel properly equipped to teach others. To disciple right now, or you do not feel properly equipped to teach others. To become more intentional about your legacy, look for opportunities to invest your life in others. Ask God to show you how to share His principles, as well as your insights and experiences, with the next generation. The blessings for you and those you disciple will be well worth the investment of your time and energy.

Where are you?

Your score in this area indicates you have some Biblical understanding about wisely managing the resources God provides. You believe that faithful stewards can experience financial freedom, reduce their stress level, and increase their joy. However, you may not be confident that you have sufficient knowledge to apply God's principles on a consistent basis. As you renew your mind with His Word, you will gain the wisdom and ability to become a good manager of your time, talents, and treasure.

Your behavior regarding managing your resources does not totally align with God's Word. Based on your score, you may not be fully satisfied with the way you manage your time, talent, and resources. Perhaps you manage them well sometimes, but you find it challenging to be consistent in this area of your life. It is also possible that you are managing more as an Owner, rather than a Steward. Until your actions reflect God's ownership over everything, it is likely you will experience times of financial stress in your life.
