Introduction

As a mother of three teenagers, I understand firsthand the challenges that come with guiding your kids through important decisions like choosing a major in university. It's not easy to balance their interests, strengths, and future goals, especially when they're still figuring out who they are. This experience has fueled my passion for helping others navigate similar challenges.

As a career consultant, I use tools like Career Direct to provide a clear, comprehensive picture of an individual's personality, interests, skills, and values. My goal is to help young adults and their families make informed decisions about their future, ensuring that the chosen path is not only aligned with their strengths but also leads to a fulfilling career. I'm here to support and guide you and your child through this crucial process, making it less overwhelming and more empowering.
