

Consultant's Profile

Hello! My name is Dr. Joy Oguchi, and I welcome you to my YES! Consultant Dashboard, where passion and purpose align to help students discover “Your Extraordinary Self!” With over 18 years of experience in education, career guidance, academic advising, mentoring, and leadership development, I have dedicated my career to helping students unlock their full potential. As a secondary school administrator, I had the privilege of guiding high school students through career decisions and providing pastoral care. Witnessing their success firsthand fueled my passion to continue empowering young people to discover their true selves and purpose.

As an independent consultant in Nigeria, I have worked with over 500 students across multiple cities, including Lagos and Port Harcourt. My work is deeply rooted in a desire to guide students on a journey of self-discovery—helping them understand their unique personality, strengths, skills, and priorities. By empowering students to appreciate who they are, they can thrive personally and professionally, living a life of purpose that reflects the fullness of who they are created to be, to the glory of God.

I would be honored to work with you/your child to uncover their unique, God-given design and embrace “Your Extraordinary Self!”
