5 What impact would you like to have on others or the world someday?

I would love to show people that success doesn't have to be limited to what people like you haven't been able to do. I want to show the world that you as a person don't have to be seen by others around you to feel like you have made an impact. I want to show the world that having a faith in Christ and being able to speak about it no matter what you do in the workforce. And show that your disabilities don't always mean you can't do something, but that sometimes you just have to put in more effort and not quit when things get hard
