Introduction to Your MoneyLife® Indicator Report

Using this Report to Understand and Improve Your Biblical Financial Health

Anne Fuller, the underlying objective of this report is to help you understand how your beliefs and behaviors impact your overall financial health score. The MoneyLife® Indicator is designed to measure how your beliefs and behaviors align with scripture in the following nine areas:

Your scores will be plotted on a scale from 0-100. The higher the score, the more aligned your beliefs and behaviors are with God's financial principles.

It is important to look at beliefs and behaviors independently, while also doing a comparative analysis of these two components. This will help you better understand the root issues that affect how you think about and handle financial decisions.

This MoneyLife® Indicator report will identify specific beliefs and behaviors that need to be addressed. It will also provide recommendations to help you create an action plan to accelerate growth in those specific areas.

Trained MoneyLife® Indicator Consultants are equipped to guide individuals, couples, groups, pastors, business leaders, congregations and other organizations through the assessment in order to achieve maximum insight and benefit from the results.

BELIEFS CONTROL BEHAVIOR

Historically, people have relied on their Credit Score (or credit report/history) as an indicator of their financial well-being. Those scores and reports look primarily at past performance on debt repayment and current capacity for borrowing.

This is often a poor measure of overall financial health, yet it is considered to be the most important score in our personal finances. Neither a high credit score nor a low score necessarily provides a valid indication that a person's beliefs or behaviors are aligned with God's financial principles.

Most financial training relies heavily on modifying behaviors by following models and practices that have proven successful based on man's economy. This is similar to putting the cart before the proverbial horse. According to the Bible, this approach is backwards. Romans 12:1-2 says that we are transformed by renewing our mind -- that is, by changing our beliefs. Lasting change comes when we first modify what we believe. Once our beliefs are transformed, our behaviors will follow.

The Bible compares people to trees:

“No good tree bears bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit. Each tree is recognized by its own fruit. People do not pick figs from thorn bushes, or grapes from briars. A good man brings good things out of the good stored up in his heart, and an evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in his heart. For the mouth speaks what the heart is full of.” – Luke 6:43-45

Let's look at the example of a tree producing bad fruit.

The roots represent our belief system, and the various fruit represent our behaviors. Roots are responsible for the following: 1) the structure and strength of the tree, 2) the nourishment of the tree, and 3) the fruit of the tree. Bad roots produce rotten fruit. A tree yielding bad fruit needs to be transformed at the roots, not simply trained to change its behaviors.

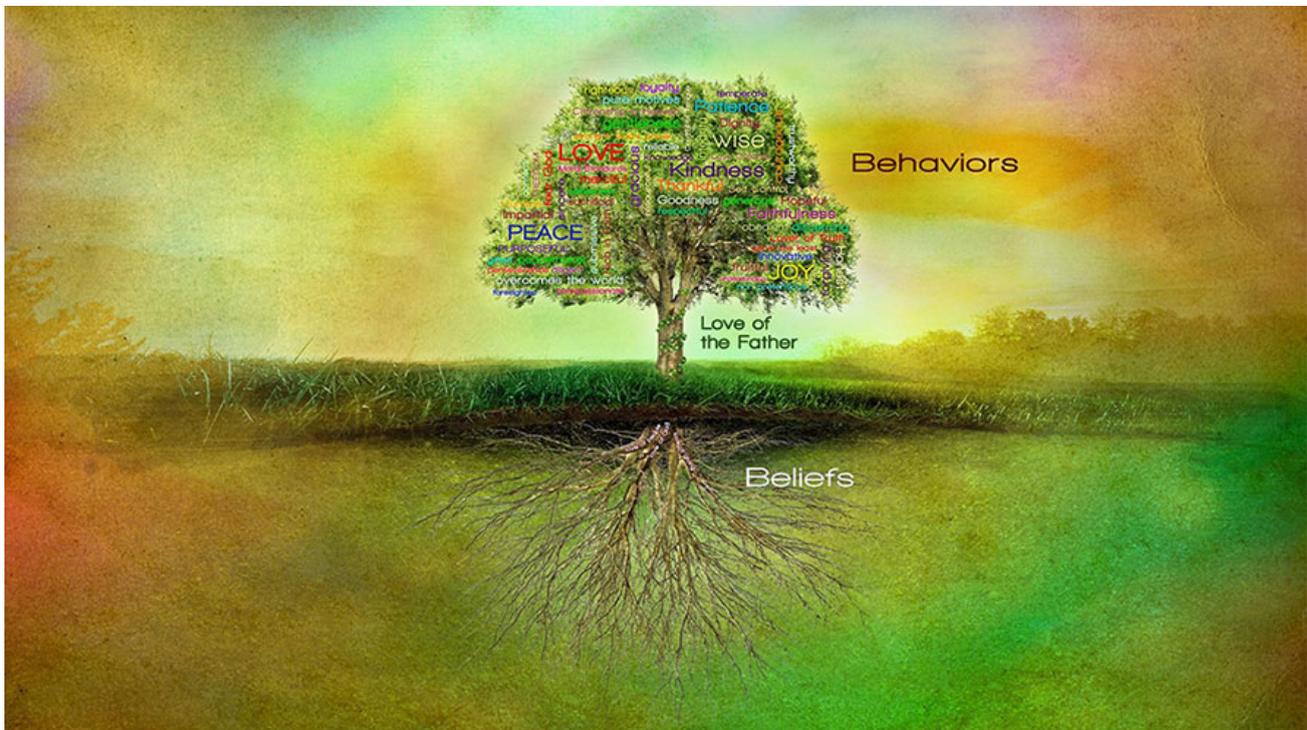

Take a moment to read these verses and think about whether the problem is a belief or a behavior:

“Whoever loves money never has enough; whoever loves wealth is never satisfied with their income. This too is meaningless.” – Ecclesiastes 5:10

“And I'll say to myself, 'You have plenty of grain laid up for many years. Take life easy; eat, drink and be merry.'” – Luke 12:19

“Those who want to get rich fall into temptation and a trap and into many foolish and harmful desires that plunge people into ruin and destruction.” – 1 Timothy 6:9

Good beliefs that are based on God's Word will produce good behavior, especially when people rely on the power of the Holy Spirit to empower them. There is a significant difference in behavior when our beliefs are rooted in Biblical principles!

"They will be called Oaks of Righteousness, a planting of the Lord for the display of His splendor." Isaiah 61:3

GETTING THE MOST FROM YOUR REPORT

Anne Fuller, there is a wealth of information in this report. Therefore, we recommend you read through it several times. Pay special attention to the action plan section of the report, which is tied to your lowest belief and behavior scores. It also can be very beneficial to have someone, such as a friend or mentor, read through your report with you. If you would like assistance to interpret your results, please contact us to connect with a certified MoneyLife® Indicator Consultant.

ORGANIZATION OF THE REPORT

This report is organized into three main parts:

1. Overall Score - First the report provides an overall score, which is an average score for the nine areas assessed. Your overall score will fall into one of three categories: Red, Yellow, or Green.
2. Individual scores for both Beliefs and Behaviors in all nine areas of financial stewardship - You will receive a score for both beliefs and behaviors in every one of the nine financial stewardship areas. These scores will indicate whether there is an alignment or a discrepancy between beliefs and behaviors in each of the nine areas.
3. Action plan based on your three lowest scores - You will receive a comprehensive action plan for the three lowest scores on both beliefs and behaviors. This action plan includes recommendations to address your areas of weakness and start you on a path to financial health from a Biblical perspective.

UNDERSTANDING THE SCALES AND SCORES

What is the significance of your scores? What do they say about your financial health based on God's principles?

From God's perspective, financial health is having your behavior guided by a deep and firm belief that aligns with what the Bible says. Your ultimate goal is to achieve a score as close as possible to 100 on the overall average score, as well as on beliefs and behaviors in every one of the nine stewardship areas.

Your scores will be color-coded based on the numeric value you achieved.

Red: Significant changes to beliefs and/or behaviors are necessary to bring your financial life in line with God's economy. Immediate attention on the underlying issues may help you avoid or minimize negative consequences (financial and/or relational). On a positive note, there are both short- and long-term benefits to bringing your beliefs and behaviors into alignment with God's way of managing money and possessions. MoneyLife® Indicator Consultants are ready to serve you with wise counsel in these critical areas, as you learn to live in God's economy rather than man's economy.

Yellow: You have a certain level of understanding about God's economy, as it relates to behaviors and beliefs in His way of handling finances. However, there may be some level of uncertainty causing you to hesitate on behaviors that align with God's principles. Your beliefs regarding certain areas are influenced by aspects of man's economy and need to come into full alignment with God's economy. Addressing behaviors and/or beliefs in areas with low scores will move your overall score to the next tier. This will move you closer to living in full alignment with God's financial principles. MoneyLife® Indicator Consultants are ready to assist you in taking the steps necessary to live as a faithful manager of His resources.

Green: You are moving in the right direction to consistently live in God economy. You are also focused on fulfilling His call to wisely manage your time, talent, and treasure for His glory. As you continue to grow in your role as a faithful steward, be sure to regularly assess whether your beliefs and behaviors align with God's principles. Apart from His grace, it is easy to succumb to the worldly wisdom that governs man's economy.

What was measured?

How we handle our money influences our fellowship with the Lord. Jesus equates how we handle our money with the quality of our spiritual life. In Luke 16:11, He says, "Therefore if you have not been faithful in the use of worldly wealth, who will entrust the true riches to you?"

If we handle our money properly according to the principles of Scripture, we grow closer to Christ. However, if we are unfaithful with it, our fellowship with Him will suffer. Being truly rich has little to do with our bottom line and everything to do with our top priorities. We can choose to serve either God or money, but we can't serve both.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Finding joy in your work
- Your agreement with your spouse regarding your finances
- Recognizing financial decisions are spiritual decisions and should be in agreement with Biblical financial principles
- Your understanding of your unique design and advancement towards your life goals
- Your personal integrity
- Your willingness to seek godly counsel
- Your peace in the midst of your current circumstances
- Your interest in managing your finances well to please God

“His master said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant. You have been faithful over a little; I will set you over much. Enter into the joy of your master.'” – Matthew 25:23

“As for the rich in this present age, charge them not to be haughty, nor to set their hopes on the uncertainty of riches, but on God, who richly provides us with everything to enjoy.” – I Timothy 6:17

Where are you?

Your score indicates some understanding of true riches from a Biblical perspective. You are definitely moving in the right direction when it comes to seeking God's perspective about your priorities and focusing on the things that matter most to Him. If you struggle to consistently live as a faithful steward, it is important to renew your mind daily by meditating on Biblical principles about the meaning of true riches.

You are on your way toward living with a Biblical understanding of true riches. You have made progress in adopting God's perspective on this subject, but you might struggle at times to live it out practically. It could be that you are influenced by the world's definition of riches, without even realizing it. When that happens, the worries and cares of this life can distract you from pursuing eternal vs. worldly wealth.

GIVING

What was measured?

Generosity is a litmus test of our relationship with Christ. It should be more natural for the Christian to give away money and possessions than to hoard them. The object of our generosity reveals what's in our hearts. Giving has the power to transform the lives of others — as well as our own. We need God's wisdom to balance giving, saving, and debt elimination at the same time.

There are five elements associated with giving:

- Our attitudes in giving
- The advantages of giving
- The amount to give
- The approach to giving
- The places for giving

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Serving others
- Generosity
- Response to the Holy Spirit when prompted to give
- Giving of your time
- Planning for the provision of your heirs

“A generous man will prosper; he who refreshes others will himself be refreshed.” –
Proverbs 11:25

“All these people gave their gifts out of their wealth; but she out of her poverty put in all she had to live on.” – Luke 21:4

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs regarding giving and generosity are closely aligned with God’s Word. As a result, you should be experiencing the joy that comes from giving freely to God and others. You are convinced that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Your biggest enemy in this season may be complacency or becoming overwhelmed by the amount of need in the world. Remember the exhortation in Galatians 6:9, which reminds us that we should not grow weary in doing good.

Congratulations! Your behavior regarding giving and generosity reflects that of a Kingdom citizen. Both your budget and lifestyle honor God, and you find great joy and satisfaction when giving to His purposes. Your generosity towards others shows that you have experienced it is more blessed to give than to receive. In addition to giving financially, you are willing to use your time, talents, and possessions in ways that glorify the Lord. As you continue to grow in this area, God will impact numerous lives through you.

| WORKING

What was measured?

God designed each of us to work. Through our faithful and diligent labor, He provides for us and we bring Him glory. Even before sin entered the human race, God instituted work. Despite what many believe, work was initiated for our benefit in the sinless environment of the Garden of Eden. Work is not a result of the curse!

One of the primary purposes of work is to develop character. According to Scripture, there is dignity in all types of work. It's God's way of providing for our needs, and it is our way of bringing Him glory. When we discover how God has uniquely designed us, we'll find greater joy in our work as we use the gifts and talents He has given us.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Work performance by developing your God given talents and abilities
- Your alignment of your talents and abilities and your work
- The joy you find in work
- Your job alignment with your personality and abilities
- Working for provision
- Your pursuit of meaningful work

“For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do.” – Ephesians 2:10

“Do you see a man skilled in his work? He will serve before kings; he will not serve before obscure men.” – Proverbs 22:29

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs about work align closely with God's Word. By now you should be experiencing the joy of working as unto the Lord, rather than for men (Ephesians 6:7). It is a true blessing to understand your identity in Christ and to see your vocation as a calling from Him. We encourage you to share this perspective with others, since many people today do not find fulfillment in their career.

Congratulations! Your score indicates that you are experiencing the joy of working in your God-given design. Your job aligns closely with your skills, talents, interests, and values. Therefore, work has become a blessing rather than a burden to you. It is a gift to recognize that your abilities come from God and can be used to bring Him glory. Your biggest challenge may be remembering that God wants you to work six days a week and to rest one. You can honor the Lord by maintaining proper work/life balance.

SAVING

Beliefs

Weak to Fair

Behaviors

What was measured?

Saving is the cornerstone of wise stewardship, while excessive consumption and waste are the opposite. In order to save, we have to learn to live on less than we make, no matter how little or how much that is. Save on purpose — to be prepared for an emergency or to be available for an opportunity — but don't hoard. Remember, it's important to be saving, giving, and eliminating debt simultaneously.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Understanding of your ability to save and invest
- Your willingness to plan to reach your savings goals
- Your awareness of your budget and spending
- Your commitment to having an emergency savings account
- Saving a percentage of all your income
- The duration of your ability to survive on your current savings
- Your current savings cushion

“Go watch the ants,.. . Watch what they do and be wise. Ants have no commander, no leader or ruler, but they store up food in the summer and gather their supplies at harvest.” – Proverbs 6:5-8

“...Take a fifth of the harvest of Egypt during the seven years of abundance. ... Collect all the food of these good years that are coming and store up the grain ... to be kept in the cities for food. This food should be held in reserve for the country, to be used during the seven years of famine that will come upon Egypt, so that the country may not be ruined by the famine.” – Genesis 41:34-36

Where are you?

You are making progress toward adopting a Biblical perspective of saving, but there is still room for improvement. You may not be fully convinced yet of how important saving is for your financial health, or perhaps you have doubts about your ability to practice this discipline consistently. As you increase your knowledge about savings, you are more likely to become a steady plodder (Proverbs 21:5).

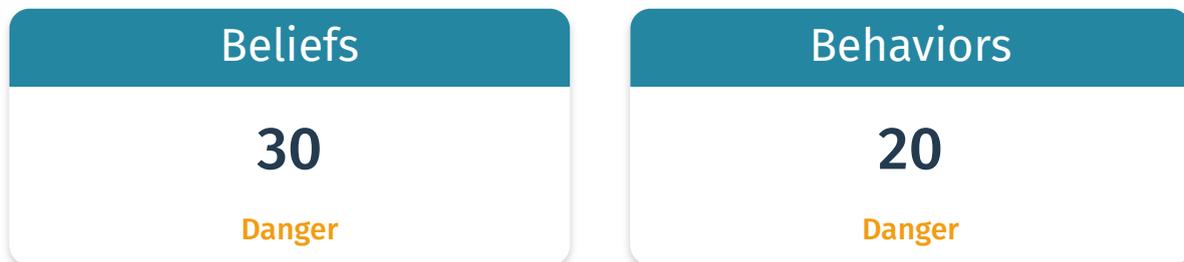

Your behavior regarding saving does not align closely with God's Word. As you gain a Biblical understanding of saving, it is important that you get started -- no matter how little you are currently able to set aside. The discipline of regular and consistent saving needs to be established in your mind and in your budget. This important practice will allow you to prepare for the future, avoid debt, and grow in generosity. We encourage you to seek God's direction about the portion He wants you to set aside from all sources of income.

| INVESTING

What was measured?

Our financial plans should include learning to become God's investment managers. Wherever we find ourselves financially, we are all called to be risk managers on God's behalf. Investing is a means of multiplying our resources to give more, to meet future family needs, to further the Gospel, and to fund special needs.

Some people want to know if investing is scripturally legitimate. They want to know if money is evil. Money can be used for good or evil. It is the love of money that is the root of all kinds of evil. The Bible never condemns money itself, only the misuse of or the wrong attitude toward it.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your desire to please God by managing your investments well
- Your investment in the lives of others
- Your ability to invest
- Your understanding of your investments
- Your practice of diversification

“So he called ten of his servants and gave them ten minas. 'Put this money to work,' he said, 'until I come back.'” – Luke 19:13Sc

“Blessed is the man who finds wisdom, the man who gains understanding, for she is more profitable than silver and yields better returns than gold.” – Proverbs 3:13-14

Where are you?

Your beliefs about investing do not align closely with God’s Word. You may be uncomfortable or insecure regarding investment strategies, perhaps due to a lack of knowledge and/or a negative experience. While it is important to focus initially on goals for giving, saving, and debt elimination, it is also important to grow in your understanding of wise investment principles.

Your behavior in the area of investing does not align closely with God's Word. If you tried to invest in the past and had a bad experience, you may be hesitant or fearful about trying again. Another possibility is that you have financial constraints which prevent you from investing right now. As you work on getting your financial house in order, you should also take appropriate steps to become knowledgeable about God's plan for investing.

What was measured?

Careful planning is essential to overcoming financial challenges. It also enables us to pursue a life filled with meaning and purpose. The essentials for a financial plan are:

- Understanding biblical financial principles
- Creating a spending plan (budget)
- Spending less than you earn
- Having clear financial goals

Everyone needs a plan for their finances and a commitment to stick to it! Applying the financial principles in Scripture is a journey that takes time. It is easy to become discouraged. Remember, simply be faithful with what you have – whether it is little or much.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your discipline to follow a budget
- Your commitment to your financial goals
- Your current actions towards planning
- Your temptation to make spontaneous, costly financial decisions
- Your agreement with your spouse regarding your financial plans ( if you are married)
- Your attention to financial details
- Your actions regarding creating a financial plan
- Your current financial circumstances
- Your willingness to carefully plan and remain faithful to it

“The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control.” – Galatians 5:16

“Plans fail for the lack of counsel, but with many advisers they succeed.” – Proverbs 15:22

Where are you?

Congratulations! Your beliefs about planning are closely aligned with God's Word. Based on your knowledge of His principles, you understand that every financial decision is actually a spiritual decision. You recognize the benefits of creating a realistic spending plan and sticking to it. Your mindset is that of a faithful steward, whose beliefs strongly influence your behavior.

Your behavior regarding planning does not align closely with God's Word. You may have started planning, but perhaps you became distracted or stopped because of financial difficulties. For many people, procrastination and disorganization can be major inhibitors to success. It is essential to seek God's direction when establishing your short- and long-term goals. Once you have a realistic plan in place, you will benefit from reviewing it regularly with godly advisers (Proverbs 15:22). Remember to rely on the Lord as you take appropriate steps to reach your goals.

What was measured?

Scripture does not say it is a sin to borrow money, but it does discourage the use of debt. Remember, God loves us and has given us these principles for our benefit:

- Debt is considered slavery
- Debt was considered a curse
- Debt presumes upon tomorrow
- Debt may deny God an opportunity

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your view of borrowing money
- Your willingness to pay interest
- Your willingness to carry a balance on credit cards

- Your commitment to pay off your debts and avoid future borrowing
- Your desire to pay off your home loan
- Your view of getting out of debt
- Your current stress regarding debt and borrowing

“Owe no one anything, except to love each other, for the one who loves another has fulfilled the law.” – Romans 13:8

“The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower is the slave of the lender.” – Proverbs 22:7

Where are you?

Your beliefs regarding debt do not align closely with God's Word. As a result, you are vulnerable to the idea of borrowing to meet your needs and/or to achieve your financial goals. The root cause of your beliefs may be discontentment, covetousness, a desire to have your needs met immediately, or a lack of confidence in God as your provider. These beliefs will cause you to make poor decisions that can lead to financial bondage.

Your behavior regarding debt does not closely align with God's Word. We realize debt can sometimes be due to circumstances beyond your control. However, it is also possible that you have a tendency to misuse the resources God provides or to make poor financial decisions. Regardless of the reason, debt can take its toll financially, emotionally, and spiritually. The good news is that God's Word offers hope! It is important to turn to Him and acknowledge your desire to live debt-free. Seek His help in creating and sticking to a repayment plan that will eliminate your debt completely.

We must be intentional to train our children how to make and manage money God's way. Our greatest legacy is at stake. Our failure to view our present lives through the lens of eternity is one of the biggest hindrances to seeing our lives and assets in their true light. Yet Scripture states that the reality of our eternal future should determine the character of our present lives -- as well as the way we use our money and possessions.

Your financial decisions impact the course of your life and the lives of those around you. All of us will leave a legacy behind of more than just money.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your discipleship of others regarding their stewardship of God's resources
- Your investment in teaching your children about God's financial principles
- Your mentorship of others in your church, family or place of work
- Your involvement with estate planning
- Whether or not you have a legal will and testament

“Fix these words of mine in your hearts and minds; tie them as symbols on your hands and bind them on your foreheads. Teach them to your children, talking about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up.” – Deuteronomy 11:18-19

“Only be careful, and watch yourselves closely so that you do not forget the things your eyes have seen or let them fade from your heart as long as you live. Teach them to your children and to their children after them.” – Deuteronomy 4:9

Where are you?

You are making progress in gaining a Biblical understanding about leaving a legacy. You believe it is important to teach God's principles to the next generation and to share the wisdom you have gained through the years. However, you are not always sure how to do that effectively. As a result, you may procrastinate in teaching and discipling others from God's Word and your life experiences.

You have taken positive steps regarding the Biblical practice of leaving a legacy. You are making an effort to teach God's principles to your own (or other) children, young people, and adults. You are also willing to share your own life experiences as you disciple people in the area of faithful stewardship. However, you may struggle to be consistent in this practice. Your consistency will result in tangible benefits for those you are instructing, so we encourage you to allocate sufficient time in your schedule to pursue these opportunities.

What was measured?

The simple, daily choices we make will enable us to overcome our financial challenges and help us live lives of meaning and purpose. The Bible does not require one standard of living for everyone. In Scripture, godly people are represented in all walks of life, and the Lord still places His people in every level of society – rich and poor. People who evaluate their standard of living according to Biblical principles and then apply them will become faithful stewards.

Understanding our role as managers (or stewards) is at the core of what it means to serve God with our finances. How we manage God's resources has eternal consequences.

The following factors are reflected in your Belief and Behavior scores for this area:

- Your knowledge that financial decisions are spiritual decisions that should be aligned with God's financial principles
- Your willingness to manage your finances well

- Your current financial stress
- Unity with your spouse regarding financial decisions (if you are married)
- Your willingness to seek godly counsel
- Self-control regarding spending
- Your view of integrity and honesty in financial matters
- Your view of financial independence
- Your faithfulness to live by a budget
- Your attention to detail
- Paying your mortgage or rent
- Tracking your net worth
- Willingness to spend on credit cards

“Master, he said, 'you entrusted me with five talents. See, I have gained five more.' His master replied, 'Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Come and share your master's happiness!’” – Matthew 25:20-21

“There was a rich man who had a manager, and charges were brought to him that this man was wasting his possessions. And he called him and said to him, 'What is this that I hear about you? Turn in the account of your management, for you can no longer be my manager.’” – Luke 16:1-2

Where are you?

Your beliefs about managing your finances do not align closely with God's Word. Whether He has given you a lot or a little, it is likely that you struggle to manage your resources according to Biblical principles. The root cause may be a lack of confidence in your knowledge and ability to live as a faithful steward. The good news is that the principles in God's Word have stood the test of time. They are reliable and given for your benefit, with power to change what you think about money and possessions. As you renew your mind with Biblical truth, you will see that God can equip you as a wise manager of His resources. Let your confidence be in Him, knowing He can help you honor Him in this area of your life.

Your behavior regarding managing your resources does not align closely with God's Word. You may find it difficult to manage your time, talent, and resources in a way that honors the Lord and fulfills His purposes. How you handle money is often an external indicator of an internal spiritual condition. If you are currently experiencing financial challenges in your life, remember that God can make all things work together for your good. As you submit to Him, He will help you become a better manager of the resources He provides.

Planning Your Legacy

Most of us work 40 years to accumulate assets and spend 10 to 20 years conserving them. However, many of us spend two hours or less planning the distribution of our assets. This guide is designed to help you move forward with a plan that writes a very good chapter in the book of your life.

Thank you for using the MoneyLife Indicator on your journey to self discovery. We hope that, as you identify your beliefs and behaviors in the nine areas of financial stewardship, you will seek to learn and apply biblical financial principles related to those areas. As you achieve greater alignment with scripture, we anticipate that your financial health will improve. Our ultimate desire, however, is that your walk with the Lord will become deeper and more intimate. To God be the glory!
