

Nurse-Led Mobility Program Phase 1

Abby Woodyard, Mackenzie Wilson, and Rachel Stadler

Congratulations! Your group's article has been approved for the EBP Poster project.

Poster Title: Let's get moving!

Great title! Its eye catching and simple.

Reference in APA format:

Jones, R. A., Merkle, S., Ruvalcaba, L., Ashton, P., Bailey, C., & Lopez, M. (2020). Nurse-led mobility program: Driving a culture of early mobilization in medical-surgical nursing. Journal of Nursing Care Quality, 35(1), 20–26. <https://doi.org/10.1097/NCQ.0000000000000404>

Excellent job formatting the reference according to APA standards. I have no suggestions for improvement. 😊

Question: What is an adverse outcome of a patient with prolonged immobility?

- A. Decrease in delirium
- B. Hospital-acquired pneumonia
- C. Increase in functional status
- D. Increase in range of motion

Answer: B- Hospital-acquired pneumonia

Found under the section “Literature Review” in the second sentence on Page 20. Starting with “Adverse outcomes associated with prolonged immobility include...”

Good question! I appreciate that it reflects prevention and one of the reasons why patient mobility is so important.

Phase I- Submit to EBP Poster-phase 1 dropbox in Edvance360 by 2200 on 2/13/22:	Yes (1 point)	No (0 points)
Poster title	1
Article is EBP nursing research published within the last 5 years	1
Article is applicable to nursing practice in the U.S.	1
(1) multiple choice question and answer that reflects a key point from the article	1
Copy of the full article with answer to multiple choice question highlighted in yellow	1
Reference listed in APA format (7 th edition)	1

Rachel, Mackenzie, and Abigail:

Great job with phase I ladies! You do not need to resubmit anything for phase I and you may proceed to phase II of the EBP Poster project. Please review the course syllabus and EBP Poster Guidelines document (located in the Course Resources on Edvance360) for expectations associated with this next phase of the project. Phase II is due in the EBP Poster- Phase II Dropbox in Edvance360 by 0800 on 2/25/22. Keep up the great work! Dawn