

The highest level of education that I plan to receive as a nurse is most likely a Master of Science in Nursing specializing in pediatrics. I think that being a pediatric primary care nurse practitioner is my end goal. The reason I am leaning towards this is because I know I love pediatrics and I feel that a master's degree is a good stopping point for me because I don't like school. Being a pediatric nurse has been what I wanted to do since I was 13.

I am interested in the nurse practitioner side of things because I would love to work in an office and be with these patients until they are adults. I want to be someone they can trust and come to and provide the best care possible. I love kids and I have experience with kids of all ages. Being someone the parents can trust is also something I want to provide to the community.
