Congressman Robert Latta
United States House of Representatives
2448 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Congressman Latta,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to bring to your attention a pressing healthcare issue that is of great concern to me and many others in our community. As your constituent, I urge you to take swift action to address this matter.

Currently, in the healthcare field there has been a great shortage of nurses. Many nurses are being overworked due to the shortage and the amount of hours they are working. They are pressed to work extra hours due to the shortage with little pay to what they deserve. This is affecting many nurses by straining their bodies, living different lives, being away from their families, and not making enough money for the hours worked. This matter should be addressed in a way of looking to increase the wages of nurses in the state where their facilities are short of nurses.

It is important that this healthcare issue requires attention and action from our government. As my elected representative, I urge you to prioritize this matter due to the fact that the right amount of care could be missing for many patients who are in need. I urge you to work towards finding meaningful solutions that will improve this issue.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I trust in your commitment to serving the needs of your constituents and advocating for positive changes to take place. I look forward to hearing from you soon regarding your opinion on addressing these matters.

Sincerely,
Katelyn Elmlinger
